The screenshot shows the AUMA website's 'Opportunities to join a committee' page. At the top, there are logos for AUMA and AMSC, and a navigation menu with links for 'About us', 'Membership', 'Advocacy services', 'Business services', 'Events', 'News', and 'Job postings'. Below the navigation, a breadcrumb trail reads 'Home / About us / Opportunities to join a committee'. The main heading is 'Opportunities to join a committee'. A paragraph explains that municipal elected officials or senior administrators can apply to participate in one of the following AUMA committees:

- Infrastructure and Energy Committee looks at matters pertaining to municipal infrastructure and its financing; municipal infrastructure related grants and transfers, tangible capital assets, asset management, transportation and public works, roads and bridges, rights of way including utilities, energy policies and market access, and disaster planning and emergency management.
- Municipal Governance Committee looks at matters pertaining to the Municipal Government Act and related legislation, property assessment and tax policy, municipal revenue and cost sharing, intermunicipal cooperation, the municipal sustainability strategy, roles and responsibilities of municipalities, citizen engagement, indigenous relations, and convention resolutions.
- Safe and Healthy Communities Committee considers issues relating to health and safety (including emergency medical response and police funding), social programs (FCSS, poverty reduction, affordable housing and homelessness), culture and recreation, and welcoming and inclusive communities.
- Sustainability and Environment Committee reviews matters pertaining to water, climate change, clean air, brownfields, solid waste management, land use planning and cumulative effects management, and municipal sustainability planning.

On the right side of the page, there is a section titled 'Annual report' with a button that says 'Click here to view our 2018 Annual Report'. Below the button, a note reads: 'Note: We find that this presentation works best for us when using a Firefox or Chrome browser.
